

Hannah Sullivan, B.S., QMHP-A, QMHP-T

I'm from Williamsburg, Virginia but moved to Richmond to attend VCU for undergrad where I received my Bachelor of Science in psychology. I am now working towards my Master's in Social Work (MSW) at VCU, where I am cultivating my interest in family and couples therapy. I have experience working with adult clients living with substance use disorders and other comorbidities, such as bipolar disorder, schizophrenia, anxiety, depression, anger management, and those who have experienced domestic violence. I gravitate towards motivational interviewing and a person-centered approach, putting the client as the expert in their life and viewing myself as a nonjudgmental guide to assist them in their journey. I am a foodie, a budget-friendly traveler, a dog mom, and a Lego fanatic.
