

Scott Caravas, MSW, Supervisee in Social Work Intake Coordinator & Outpatient Therapist

I am a Supervisee in Social Work who graduated with my Bachelor's degree in Social Work from James Madison University in 2018 and my Master's degree in Social Work from Radford University in 2019. While providing outpatient therapy, I have experience working with individuals from childhood through adulthood with a diverse range of presenting problems. Areas that I enjoy working with my clients on are anxiety, goal setting, substance abuse, and coping skill development. I also provide assessments for community based services for people seeking in-home counseling. In my free time, I enjoy spending time outdoors fishing, rock climbing, and hanging out with my wife and puppy.
